PROFILE

Active Aviation Training, part of Active Solutions Consulting Group (ASCG), is an independent aviation training company operating worldwide. We train thousands of flight attendants, pilots and instructors each year in a range of aviation related subjects.

Our clients include over 100 airlines from six continents worldwide who choose us for our ability to provide quality assured, cost effective training solutions that meet the requirements of our customers and their aviation authorities across the globe.

Operating from our base close to London Gatwick Airport, we take pride in offering the highest levels of customer service and quality assured training courses and consultancy solutions to our airline customers both in the UK and overseas.

We cover a range of subjects as detailed below. All courses are delivered in accordance with authority and operator manuals. We also create and update operations manuals, instructor materials and training related documentation.
