PROFILE

Redline offers aviation security training and support solutions to the UK and Overseas aviation organisations to ISO 9001 standard and is "truly a genuine one-stop-shop".

We combine the expertise of aviation and security experts from across all aviation security disciplines, encompassing air and ground perspectives as well as those of the regulatory bodies. We constantly assess current and new global threats in order to ensure that our unique training and support solutions remain dynamic, effective and customer focused.

Our customer portfolio is extensive and we are justifiably proud to provide modern aviation security training and management solutions across the globe.
